CENTER BOND ISSUE FAILS; BUT BUILDING TO BE USED

School Bldg. Fund Spent

Warren Says There Is No More Money To Build Schools Earlier Planned

Hope that a portion of the local school building program would be restored was shattered by Governor Earl Warren this week.

In a statement to the press Tuesday, the governor said the $250,000,000 bond issue voted in 1949 for construction of schools was exhausted. He stated a special session of the legislature would be called in an effort to raise funds for school construction.

This statement followed by a week an announcement that almost 50 per cent of the local elementary school building program is to be cut. Plans for a new upper division Garden Village school, and two all purpose rooms at the Westlake and Woodrow Wilson school respectively have come under the axe.

Earlier the state justified the action by noting the population growth of this area is not keeping up with early predictions, and money the state was to lend the district could be used better elsewhere.

State officials said should the local population trend increase, the new school, and rooms would be restored to the building program launched last year.

No Money

Governor Warren's statement indicates this is not the case, and regardless of local population trends, there just isn't enough money to build the Garden Village upper grade school, or for that matter, restore any of the building cut out by the state department of finance here.

The one ray of sunshine was the governor's statement that the state is financially well off, and he indicated some of the surplus might be used for school construction.

Nothing To Add

Meanwhile, Superintendent H. Z. Weibel said he had nothing to add to last week's cutback announcement. He reeiterated, however, that when the new Colma school is completed all double sessions will be abolished here . . . that is,

WESTLAKE SCHOOL OPENING DELAYED

Due to a failure to obtain necessary materials, the Westlake school will not open Tuesday, November 13, as planned, Superintendent of Schools H. Z. Weibel said today.

He said, however, the school should be opened by Monday, November 12.

All interested parents will be notified of the exact date of opening, Weibel said.

Not Guilty Plea Entered In Auto Case

Charged with failing to give the right-of-way to a pedestrian, which resulted in a 16-year-old girl being struck in a cross-walk, a Palo Alto man pled not guilty in police court Wednesday.

He is Serge Letlat who was allegedly driving the car which hit Carol Prease, 16, of Brisbane as she was crossing Mission street to Jefferson high school, October 22.

Letlat also pled not guilty to a charge of speeding without due cause.

He waived a jury trial, and will plead his case before Judge W. J. Sweeney next Wednesday.

The girl he allegedly struck suffered leg and face injuries, but is now back in school.

New Horizons

Childs Book Week

By LORRAINE DE FANTI
Assistant Librarian

"Suppose there were no books!
No books to read in cozy nooks!
No books to fill the hungry mind
And teach the art of being kind.

No books to while the hours away,
To link today with yesterday;
No books to charm us for a while
To bring a tear or lure a smile.

But there are books, praise God above!
If we have books and we have love
We can dispense with other things—
'Tis books, not crowns, that make men kings."
—Ina B. Roberts.

"New Horizons with Books," is the theme selected for the thirty-third annual observance of Children's Book Week, November 11-17.

Yes, once again Book Week is here, and in the Boys and Girls room at the Daly City Public Library, are many old and new favorites which will open up for children of all ages, everwidening horizons of interest and entertainment. To re-echo the words of Ina Roberts, you'll find books that fill the hungry mind, as well as some which teach us to be kind.

Many are those which will open pages of the past, while others record happenings of our own times. There are books too, that charm, as well as those which may bring a tear or a smile. At the library you'll find a veritable store house of every type of experience one can share through the media of books.

Parents concerned with the individual needs of children, librarians devoted to the ideal of free service for all, and teachers dedicated to the spreading of knowledge and beauty in every form they can discover, constitute the great company of people who are devoted to the devopment of the minds and spirits of children. In the troubled year of 1951, the Thirty-Third Annual celebration of Children's Book Week takes on an added significance which none of us should risk ignoring. For as one famous author, Paul Haz-

Chairman of the nominating committee is Leonard Oppenheim. Although the committee will submit its recommendations at the meeting, other members of the association may nominate their selections from the floor.

Additional business of the association will also be brought up at this meeting and all members are urged to be present. Refreshments will be served in the school cafeteria.

Officials Frown On City-County Tax Collection

Local Politicos Say Present Plan Best

A move to eliminate the local office of assessor and tax collector in favor of the county doing the job was recommended by the grand jury this week.

Jury Spokesman Thomas Foster said the recommendation had been made "in the interest of economy," and would eliminate duplication of effort.

Under the new plan, assessment and tax collection costs would be borne by the cities in direct ratio to their assessed valuations.

Some Doubt

City officials contacted here said they doubted if the county could perform the two jobs for Daly City any cheaper than it is now being done.

Both the job of tax collection and assessor are now performed by the office of City Clerk B. C.

The public is cordially invited to attend.

Dear Sirs:

When I was home last June, I meant to tell you of my new military address, but it slipped my mind.

Colma Soldier Missing In Action

Pfc Capurro Drops Out Of Sight In Korea

Anxious and worried parents and brothers of Pfc. Umberto Capurro, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Umberto Capurro, Sr., of Mission road, Colma, are awaiting word of his whereabouts on the Korean war scene.

Approximately two weeks ago they received word that he was missing in action and since that time, not a single notification has been sent them either to confirm or deny that he is still alive.

Pfc. Capurro has been in the army since January of this year. Following a period in Japan, he then became engaged in active service in Korea.

WINDSHIELD WIPER SWIPE, SWIPE, SWIPE

A little Westlake boy amused himself with a new form of entertainment this week. He went up and down the streets in his locality and removed the windshield wipers from parked cars.

When Daly City police finally caught up with him, he had a fistful of wipers. And then it was up to local officers to return the wipers to the various cars.

The result was that there were four windshield wipers left over for which the police could find no matching cars. These were brought to the police station.

What prompted the child to this activity? This question was answered by one of the Daly City police in the following words, "What reason does a kid ever need for doing anything?"

Auditorium Ready Early Next Year

Council Will Tap General Fund For Money To Complete Part Of Building

Although Daly City residents, Tuesday, defeated the $180,000 bond issue to complete the Community Center Building, the city council will take steps to make at least a portion of the building useable.

This was the consensus of opinion of city councilmen contacted by The Record today. Each expressed disappointment in the result of the election, and especially over the failure of the public to show interest in the fate of the building.

The building went down to defeat in an election which saw one of the lightest turnouts of voters in many years. Of the 7,395 registered voters, 2,514 went to the polls.

While 1,434 votes were cast in favor of the bond isue, 1,080 were opposed. As it takes a two-thirds majority to carry such an issue, the proposal failed by 16 per cent of the necessary majority.

The $180,000 was to be used to complete a teen-age center, kitchen and several meeting rooms. It was also to have been employed for the purchase of a heating plant and necessary furniture for the structure.

Plans Ready

Although councilmen hesitated to make any definite statements as to the future of the building, Mayor Paul Green today said he was sure that at least the auditorium could be made useable.

"Definite plans will be formulated at the regular council meeting Monday night," Mayor Green said.

Councilman Edward Mooney suggested less adequate heaters can be installed in the main auditorium until such time as adequate funds are available for a main heating unit.

Money for the necessary equipment will have to come from the city's general fund, as the original $295,000 voted two years ago for construction of the building has been exhausted. Whether or not enough can be raised from the general fund for purposes other than a heating plant has still to be decided.

Second Issue

One city official today suggested that the only solution would be another bond issue election.

"I don't see how we can finish the building from the general fund," he said. "And, at any rate, it will take a good many years to complete the building by tapping other sources of city income."

The present contractor will have completed his portion of the struc-

Rubbish Dumping Discouraged By Record High Fines

Three Caught At Thornton Beach

It is now an expensive thing to dump rubbish in unauthorized sections in and around Daly City.

Moving to stamp out this violation, Judge W. J. Sweeney this week levelled record high fines of $50 each against three violators.

The majority of the defendants were caught as they dumped rubbish on Thornton Beach. This area is now being patrolled by local police in an effort to keep the beach clean of rubble.

Fined in police court Wednesday were:

Ben Schlesinger, 2683 43rd avenue, San Francisco, for dumping rubbish on Thornton Beach October 26. He pled guilty and paid $50.

Robert M. Well, 2650 Alemany boulevard, forfeited his bail of $50 for a similar dumping charge.

Christine Watkins, 62 Crocker avenue, pled guilty to scattering rubbish in the Crocker Hills Octo-

Guest speaker at the monthly meeting of north county city councils this Thursday will be Charles Becker, Westlake attorney.

Hosted by the Colma city council, the meeting is to be held at 7:30 p.m. at the Club Casino, 6192 Mission street.

Jack Price, Colma's mayor, said Becker will speak on the new court system for the state, and San Mateo county in particular. Becker will explain to the city officials how the abolishing of city courts in favor of one justice court will effect city law and finances.

Citizens' Poll

Broadmoor Favors Joining D. C.

This week various residents of Broadmoor were asked whether or not they favored joining Daly City.

The general consensus seemed to favor immediate steps to set up the machinery for incorporating Broadmoor into Daly City.

Following are the opinions:

Mrs. John Giertsen, 1227 Nimitz drive, said, "I do not think it is a very good idea. I am in favor of the situation as it now stand."

Mrs. George W. Thayer, 727 Larchmont drive, stated, "I think it is a very good idea. If it would cut down our utility rates and offer better fire protection and police protection, then I am in favor of incorporation."

Mrs. John T. Murphy, 1823 Sweetwood drive, also favored the plan. "If it offered adequate fire protection and police protection, and cut down our utility rates, it would be worth it regardless of higher taxes, she stated.

Mr. John Faust, 11 Village Lane said, "If you can talk someone into changing the name of Daly City, then I'm all for it."

"I would favor the proposal if it offered any advantages to the community" were the words of Mrs. Robert Mattson, 736 Midway drive.

Mrs. Frank Dalzelle, 819 Washington avenue, said, "I am in favor of the plan because it would entitle us to lower utility rates. I would like to get out of the California Water system, because the rates are terribly high. I think it would be a wonderful idea."

Mrs. Malcolm Green, Jr., of 1756 Sweetwood drive, is of the opinion that it would be a very good idea for Broadmoor to be incorporated with Daly City. She feels that in many ways it would be to the best interests of residents in this locality to be included in the advantages offered by Daly City.

ard, has stated, "We can disregard the literature for childhood only if we consider unimportant the way in which a NATIONAL SOUL is formed and sustained."

Importance

Stop and think of the tremendous importance of a healthy and honest soul to the preservation of the life of any body—be it personal or national, and you will understand more clearly the impact Mr. Hazards' words carry, particularly when applied to our troubled times. The Spiritual integrity of all citizens in their innumerable fields of endeavor constitutes the very backbone of a progressive nation.

As adults, it is our privilege, as well as our duty, to put children continually into contact with those good books which have been written by authors aware of the value of simplicity and calm, and of humor and adventure. Through such books boys and girls are enabled to look to other books thereby every broadening their horizons of interest, information and enjoyment.

Proper Roads

Though children may not appreciate, nor long remember their early guidance in reading, we owe them the assistance which will lead them along the proper reading roads. We can help in showing them the way to brave new horizons through the gaity, adventure, wisdom and compassion to be found in books.

Make a point of coming to the library some time during Book Week and familiarizing yourself and your children with the Children's collection. There will be special displays as well as many new books waiting for your perusal.

As adults, let none of us be found guilty of depriving those children, whose care has been entrusted to us, of their rightful cultural heritage. Whoever you may be, children's reading is your concern.

Only one of the defendants pled not guilty. He is Nick Theoharis, 183 Third street, San Francisco, who is accussed of dumping rubbish on Thornton Beach October 28. He comes up for trial November 14 at 2 p.m.

"The city recently cleaned up Thornton Beach, and we plan to keep it that way, if we have to fine everyone who violates the dumping ordinance," Judge Sweeney said.

The judge pointed out there were licensed dumps in the Daly City area which can be used at a nominal fee.

Ross. Total cost to the city for both these duties is now $7,703.

Local officials believe that if the county took over the job, it might result in more expense to the taxpayers.

Another stumbling block to the plan is the discrepancies in assessed valuations which exist between Daly City and the county, as well as other cities.

The whole program is expected to be discussed at a joint meeting of the county board of supervisors and city councils November 29.

"Kip's"...Drapery And Yardage Store Opens In Daly City

Mrs. Dorothy Iffla Manager Of Shop

The first fabrics and draperies shop in Daly City opened this week at 6165 Mission street.

"Kip's," as it is called, is ready to serve the needs of the community when it comes to draperies, yardage, lambrequins, bed spreads and cornices.

In addition, Dorothy Iffla, store manager, said she will be glad to give customers free advice on interior decorating problems.

"I will be happy to come to your home and help you with such matters as the proper shades of paint or wallpaper to use in a room," Mrs. Iffla said.

She reiterated this service in no way obligated the homemakers to purchase any item at "Kip's."

A resident of Daly City for the past 16 years, Mrs. Iffla and family reside at 156 Frankfort St. She is a member of the General Pershing PTA and the OLPH Mothers Club.

She invites all her friends, and, of course, those interested in draperies and yardage to drop in and see the new shop. Remember it is located at 6165 Mission street, just one block north of the Daly City Theatre.

Lake Merced VFW Post Launches Membership Drive

Commander Thanks Public For Support

Striving for a 100 per cent membership increase, Lake Merced Post No. 9921, VFW, this week launched a membership drive.

Commander G. Woods said the campaign would continue for the next two months.

The Post has just completed a successful drive, in conjunction with the American Legion, raise funds for a Childrens' Christmas party for Broadmoor, Garden Village, Winston Manor and surrounding Colma areas.

Mr. and Mrs. Leila Johnson of 1732 Louvaine Drive, Colma, won the first prize for their outstanding costume. Mr. Johnson was dressed as a Indian prince and Mrs. Johnson was in the costume of a Hindu woman complete with Sari and veil. A 15 pound turkey was awarded for first prize.

Second Prize

Mr. and Mrs. Elsie DeRosa of Louvaine Place, Broadmoor Village, Colma, won second prize for their humorous costume which was very difficult to describe. To the judges, they looked like a couple of escaped hayseeds from the back woods country. For their effort, another turkey was awarded.

The third and final costume prize was won by two couples. Seems they had the idea to wear identical clothes. In contrast to Mr. and Mrs. DeRosa, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Richardson of 1727 Louvaine Drive and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Goodwin of 1740 Louvaine Drive, Broadmoor Village, Colma, came as a couple of swells, Top Hat and Tails and the Mrs. were in evening gowns. However, the cut of the clothes were in the gay 20s and they cut a fine figure. They will divide a turkey amongst the four of them.

To all those who wore costumes, Commander Woods expresses his thanks and the thanks of Commander Logan of the American Legion. It is regretted that prizes could not have been awarded to everybody. Look out for next year's Benefit Ball. It should be a grand slam affair.

Membership

To all ex-service men residing in the area of Colma, Broadmoor Village, who have served overseas during a time of war, you are cordially invited to join Lake Merced Post No. 9921, Colma.

This active Post meets the 1st and 3rd Thursdays at the Community Center, White street, Broadmoor Village, Colma California. It is almost impossible to knock on everybody's door, so if you would just drop in at our meets, your application will be taken, and you will be installed in the Post the same evening.

Or contact Commander Woods by letter or phone, 106 Wyandotte, Daly City, PLaza 5-2621, and he will be only too glad to come over and bring your application and give you additional information as to the benefits of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Westlake Homes To Compete For Best Xmas Front

Doelger To Award Valuable Prizes

Residents of the Westlake district are invited again this year to decorate the outside of their homes for the Christmas season.

Judging of the homes will be handled by three unbiased residents of Daly City outside of the Westlake district. Persons are asked to watch the future columns of The Record for the list of prizes and the names of the judges.

Last year the Westlake district's yuletide display was one of the outstanding ones of the bay area. Winning first place for having the best decorated home were Mr. and Mrs. Ed Fitzsimmons of 91 Lake Forest drive.

There's No Money For Schools

Money, money, who has the money?

That appears to be the real basis of an announcement last week which spelled an end to dreams of forever abolishing double sessions in local schools. The State Department of Finance told the Jefferson Elementary School board our building program would have to be cut almost in half, despite a crying need for more and more classrooms. They had a "good reason" for the decision...the city just isn't growing fast enough to warrant the $3 million building program approved by the voters last year.

But now we come down to the cold hard facts. This week Governor Warren said the state was near the bottom of the school building funds barrel. He indicated a second state wide bond issue probably would be necessary next year to raise the money to do the job the first issue was supposed to have accomplished.

In other words, population or not, Daly City was cut out from the program for lack of funds. And any promises that the new Garden Village School and two all purpose rooms would be built when the population warrants, was nothing but old fashioned hog wash.

While we appreciate the financial position of the state, we object to the manner in which they explained the cutback here. The truth of the matter is, the state only told local residents a half truth, and virtually lied when they said the cut was only a temporary measure.

Come, come, we are all adults and can face facts, no matter how brutal. Or can it be that certain state officials smelled an election year coming up and tried to break it as easy as possible?

At any rate the Daly City area, although two new schools and several classrooms to the good, will still be behind the double sessions eight ball within the next two or three years. A program which was to have set us on the road to school building recovery has backfired, and we think the people should know the simple truth.

What is to be done?

There appears only one answer. We will have to support any measure to raise more funds to build more schools. However, let us keep an eye on where all that money is going.

And in all fairness to the local school board, they are not to blame for a situation which can be found in mistakes made in Sacramento. As a matter of fact, the board and new superintendent have done their utmost to rid us of double sessions. They can do no more...at least until someone discovers money, money and more money.

Broadmoor--Daly City Alliance

Whether it is simply a case of rugged individualism, a distaste for giving up the name of Broadmoor in favor of Daly City, or merely a desire to keep the status quo, Broadmoor residents have been bashful about making overtures to joining this fair community.

Recently, however, there has been a movement stirring in the hills and valleys of the area to our south and west. Led ostensibly by Broadmoor's new police commissioner, Claude Hanrahan, a group of Broadmoorians have expressed some desire to avail themselves of Daly City's monetary civic advantages...lower water rates, better fire protection, and so on.

As yet this movement has taken no other form than a series of articles with questions and answers by Hanrahan and Mayor Paul Green. From what we have been able to ascertain it would be of great advantage to Broadmoor to scurry under the protective wing of Daly City. What the advantage would be to Daly City can be equated in a larger city, with a respective larger tax base which would mean more services for those already within the city limits.

There must be disadvantages in an arrangement like this for some individuals; but on the whole, it seems like a pretty fair plan for all concerned.

A public opinion poll, necessarily limited, showed this week that many Broadmoor residents did favor joining Daly City. Whether or not this is the general opinion still must be ascertained.

As for the opinion of Daly City residents to greeting Broadmoor, we can see no conceivable objection. And from the tone of answers given Hanrahan's questions by Mayor Green, the city council seems to favor such an alliance.

All and all, then, we think it might not be a bad idea to set all this talk in motion. Of course, the move must come from Broadmoor, and this will take a great deal of work from Hanrahan and the supporters of the alliance. However, if Hanrahan is any example of the enthusiasm generated by the proposition, the workers should not find it difficult to get the machinery in operation for joining Daly City.

Your move, Broadmoor.

Democracy And The Community Center

The weather was exceptionally fine in otherwise fog bound Daly City last Tuesday, and there was some hope a record number of voters would turn out to decide the fate of the Community Center Building.

As it was, the majority of the voters ignored the election, possibly in favor of working out in the back yard, and the bond issue fell flat on its nose. With the final tally in, it was reported 2,514 of the 7,395 registered voters found time to go to the polls.

No one can be certain whether it was the will of the people, or the fine showing of public apathy, but the bond issue failed to pass the necessary two-thirds majority by 16 per cent.

Regardless of your feelings towards the completion of the Community Center Building, we believe there should be a general lament for the death of democracy in Daly City. What happened Tuesday is indicative of a general trend, which we hope is particular only to this community, in the direction of government by the few. In a word, an extremely important issue was settled here, not by the majority, but by less than one-third of the interested voters.

If the present trend continues, we will soon reach a point where public meetings, public decisions, will be of no real importance to anyone except the politicians. If democracy is nothing more than a hollow, ill defined term, we might as well surrender the headaches of elections in favor of a more expedient totalitarian state.

It seems to us more than the Community Center bond issue was defeated Tuesday, for, in truth, the people of Daly City scored a defeat for the basic tenets of liberty.

Freedom--What It Takes

One of the noblest pleas for freedom was sounded recently by William Faulkner, Nobel Prize winner in literature.

Although we do not make it a habit to give this space over to other than purely local editorials, we believe Faulkner's speech is well worth repeating.

We also hope those who failed to vote Tuesday will find something of interest in Faulkner's well chosen words.

Herewith, Faulkner speaks:

"Our danger is the forces in the world today which are trying to use man's fear to rob him of his individuality, his soul, trying to reduce him to an unthinking mass by fear and bribery—giving him free food which he has not earned, easy and valueless money which he has not worked for...Communist or Socialistic or Democratic, whatever they wish to call themselves, the tyrants and politicians, American or European or Asiatic...would reduce man to one obedient mass for their own aggrandizement and power...because they themselves are baffled and afraid, afraid of, or incapable of, believing in man's capacity for courage and endurance and sacrifice.

"That is what we must resist, if we are to change the world for man's peace and security. It is Man himself, created in the image of God so that he shall have the power and the will to choose right from wrong, and so be able to save himself because he is worth saving; Man, the individual, men and women, who will refuse always to be tricked or frightened or bribed into surrendering, not just the right but the duty too, to choose between justice and injustice, courage and cowardice, sacrifice and greed, pity and self...

"So, never be afraid...to raise your voice for honesty and truth and compassion, against injustice and lying and greed. If you...will do this ...as individuals...you will change the earth. In one generation all...the tyrants...and the simple politicians and time-servers...who have used or are using, or hope to use, man's fear and greed for man's enslavement, will have vanished..."

From A Corner

By Bill Katz

When man swung down from the trees, long fingernails, once useful for gripping limbs and bark, were no longer necessary except for a handy method of letting off nervous energy by biting them down to the quicks.

Man hasn't progressed much. He is still chewing his fingernails, although, for sure, wondering if it wouldn't be best to swing back into the trees and forget progress, the A-bomb, and the singing commercial.

While we are all for the trees and the accompanying necessity of long, preferably dirty fingernails, we are afraid such a progressive step would deal a death blow to many of our friendships.

Sometime ago we read a book on how to remember names. The sum total of the impressive tome could be summed up in an association of ideas. "Remember," the book said, "a pertinent feature about your man, associate that with his name, and you won't have any difficulty."

Good Idea

It sounded like a fair idea, so for a week we tried associating the color of eyes with names. Everything went fine until we met two Browns with blue eyes.

Chucking that, we turned to size. This was an excellent method, but then Tom Little came along . . . he was six foot, or more.

Then, one day we noticed most of our friends had a habit of biting their nails. Through a diligent study of the method of chomping away at the fingertips we discovered a sure method of identity. True, the system hardly works for those who use manicuring scissors, but who want this kind of friends . . . they are much too snobbish.

The Trend

We don't wish to bore our readers with complete details, however, we have noticed a definite trend in fingernail biting.

First, there is the man who uses his teeth as a stationary saw, slowly moving the finger from left to right in a neat rounded turn. This makes for a fine, dignified cut, hardly perceptible from those who employ scissors. This type can be found in the more conservative circles, such as banks and the now deceased bookmaking circles.

Alternately there is the type whom delight in making fast, sweeping motions at the fingertips. While conversing, they indiscriminately bite a little piece off one finger, then another finger, paying no attention to the havoc they are raising with the whole fingernail. Stay away from these, they are usually highly nervous and frequently dispatch a foe with a well aimed word or hatchet.

Midway, we have the five finger man. He rolls his fingers into a fist, bends his head, and beginning with the little finger, makes a sweeping swipe at all five fingers much like he's chomping through and ear of corn. This variety is peculiar to business men faced with price ceilings and a clientele of women customers.

Then there is the woman with the well polished pointed nails. While she prefers to break them off on another gal's face, she often delights in lodging one fingernail between her teeth and bending it back and forth to see how long it will take to break off entirely. A poor housewife, her type of action often arises when she is debating between whether to buy a fur coat or put the money down on a bingo game.

There are many more, of course, all interesting in their way. However, possibly it isn't a good idea to study this subject too diligently, it leads to a nervous state which in turn can lead to fingernail biting.

Survival--New Course For All School Children

Civilian Defense Part Of Daily Life

California's school children must be educated to understand they can survive an atomic attack, Maj. Gen. Walter M. Robertson, State Director of Civil Defense, declared Monday during the weekly statewide broadcast presented from his Sacramento office.

The topic of the program was the preparation made to protect California's two million children in the event of any enemy attack during school hours.

Dr. Roy E. Simpson, State Superintendent of Public Instruction and Director of Education, and Orville R. Caldwell, Deputy State Civil Defense Director, also participated in the broadcast.

Training

"Both parents and children should regard Civil Defense training and preparedness as an essential part of their daily lives," General Robertson said. "Possibility of an atomic attack should be recognized by all.

"Parents should see that their children understand this and regard it not as something to be feared, but something which, if it comes, they will survive—if prepared.

"The air raid drills at the schools—and the instruction given on the six points of survival—are the best possible preparation to survive atomic attack."

Stressing that parents have an obligation to cooperate with school personnel to insure the effectiveness of CD plans, he added:

Bombing

"Parents, in time of a bombing attack, can best cooperate by observing one simple rule—stay put—stay at home, don't go to the school, and don't phone. Your children will be given the best possible protection."

Dr. Simpson said the school Civil Defense program has three main objectives.

"Of first concern is the protection of the children," he said. "Next, educating both the children and the school personnel concerning the effects of atomic weapons and the best way to protect themselves in the case of an atomic disaster and finally, the organization of school facilities and personnel so that they can be of the greatest assistance to the oversall Civil Defense program."

Deputy Director Caldwell reviewed CD plans in Los Angeles, San Francisco, San Diego, Sacramento and Pasadena schools, and commended the Parent-Teachers Associations for their cooperation.

Next week's broadcast will include an on-the-spot recording of 1,000 people in an air raid drill staged in a 16-story San Francisco office building.

High School Superintendent Corrects Statement Made In A Record Article

Jefferson Union High School
Daly City 25, California
October 31, 1951

The Editor
The Record
3317 San Jose Avenue
Daly City, California

Dear Sir:

In the October 18 issue of "The Record" it was stated that a charge made by Mr. James Tormey that steel was being allocated for non-defense purposes instead of for schools had been "punctured" by Mr. Heyman of the N.P.A. This is misquotation as what I said was that Mr. Heyman had "denied" Mr. Tormey's charge.

None of us who attended the meeting were convinced that Mr. Tormey's statement was anything but right. It was obvious that Mr. Heyman, representing the N.P.A., had no conception of the needs of schools nor of their importance. It was also obvious that that meeting was not the place for us to achieve anything. The only way that a proper amount of steel can be obtained for schools is through the Congress of the United States. Since that meeting a United States Senate resolution sponsored, among others, by our Senator Knowland was passed without a dissenting vote. That resolution says,

"Resolved, that it is the sense of the Senate that the National Production Authority and the Defense Production Administration should reconsider its allotments of steel, copper and aluminum in such manner as to provide a greater quantity of such metals and products fabricated from such metals for the construction of and additions to schools and hospitals as may be required better to protect the health and educational standards of the nation."

I would appreciate your correcting any impression which the article of October 18 may have given in the effect that I differ with Mr. Tormey in this matter.

Sincerely yours,
STANFORD HANNAH
District Superintendent

Five "Cracker Barrel" Forums Slated For Young Republicans Of S.M. County

The Young Republicans of San Mateo county, during the next two months, will make possible a return to the old fashioned grocery store "cracker barrel." This they will do according to their President, Proctor Jones, through a series of five "cracker barrel" forums.

Wayne Hea of South San Mateo, Barbara Smith of Atherton, Robert Thompson of Millbrae, John Schumacher and John Lehman of Menlo Park have been appointed as a co-ordinating committee for the five programs, the first of which will be held at the "Chukker" at 8 p.m. on November 13, when the subject will be "Taft, Warren or Eisenhower: A Problem in Party Survival." The next meeting on November 19, will be "Water in Politics."

"Inflate Yourself Into Communism" will be the subject matter for December 10. On January 7, the forum will discuss "You Don't Have To Be A Socialist To Win Labor" and on January 21, the subject will be "Private Public Utility and the Fight To Remain Free."

Speakers arranged for will include Ray Spangler, Redwood City; Francis Raymond, San Mateo; Richard Dolwig, Assemblyman; Professor Edward Shaw, head of the Department of Economics at Stanford University; Luther Carr, prominent Burlingame attorney; Mrs. Eugene Prince, former president of Pro-America; Arnold Campo, C.I.O. Steel Worker's Union; Mrs. Myrtle Clark Stearns, Vice-President of Northern Division Council of Republican Women; Robert R. Gros, San Francisco public relations expert and A. C. McGraw, Grand Lodge representative, International Association of Machinists, and a regional member of the Wage Stabilization Board.

According to Jones, these forums will be objective in their approach and will seek to bring out interesting facts for the public consideration.

Meetings will be opened to the public. Refreshments will be served.

Civilian Defense Official Asserts Daly City Would Be Bomber's Target

"Civilian Defense is not a temporary affair—it may be with us for five years or fifty."

"San Mateo County cannot expect to escape the direct effects of aerial bombing intended for the central target of San Francisco."

There are but two of the salient points of information brought back by Robert Moore of the staff of the County Superintendent of Schools from a national staff meeting in Maryland attended by Mr. Moore last week. Moore flew to and from the convention, representing James R. Tormey, County Superintendent of Schools and County Coordinator of Civilian Defense Public Training and Education, and Captain C. J. Ballereich, County Civilian Defense Coordinator.

Moore emphasized that the federal staff definitely refuted the idea that only prime targets (such as San Francisco) would be bombed. Mutual Aid and Mobile Support areas can be expected to be deliberately hit simultaneously in the enemy's attempt to disrupt Civilian Defense and distribute the area of damage and confusion.

The federal staff meeting stressed that adequate local preparation can greatly reduce the effectiveness of the attack, but that this preparation cannot be confined to a paper plan. Recommended Civilian Defense steps included training of civilians to fight fires in their own homes, training of large numbers of first aiders for self-help and neighborhood help, training of all civilians (children and adults) in how to take proper measures for self-protection and specific training in decontamination.

Particular attention was given at the national school to the part the schools must play in the Civil and Defense program. These included orientation programs for teachers; protection of pupils during attack: cooperation with Civilian Defense, including assisting in training courses for adults; and overhauling of the curriculum at all levels to include information necessary for survival in the atomic age.

Democratic Meet Slated Soon

First Such In County History

The first pre-primary Democratic convention in San Mateo county history will be held early in January, 1952. Various sites in San Mateo and Burlingame are new being considered.

The announcement of this unprecedented action was made at a meeting of the San Mateo County Central Committee held last night at the Chukker restaurant, San Mateo, at which Fred L. Trott, Vice-Chairman of the State Democratic organization, was the featured speaker.

More than 600 Democrats will be accedited as delegates eligible to vote at the convention for candidates for the following political positions to which San Mateo county is now entitled: two state assemblymen, one state senator, and one United States Congressman.

The delegates will be selected from the following groups: one delegate from each of the 544 precincts in the county; all elected officials of the city, county and state governments who are registered Democratic voters in the county; and all members of the county central committee, the ninth congressional district committee, the state central and executive committees, and the national committee who are registered Democratic voters in the county.

Marion H. Kent, county Democratic chief, named Roy Seagraves, Burlingame attorney, as chairman pro-tem of the convention.

WORTH REMEMBERING

It is worth remembering that any windshield wiper blade is subject to weathering, points out the National Automobile Club. In time, the rubber will harden and become brittle. If it does not actually chip when in this condition, it will fail to do a smooth job of clearing the glass of moisture. A weathered blade should be replaced for safety's sake.

Lion Club District Governor Speaks To Local Group

Ladies Feted At Annual Luncheon

The Daly City-Colma Lions club at their meeting on November 7 welcomed Leslie R. Olsen, District Governor of District 4-B2 Lions International, which includes 51 clubs in this session of the state.

Lion Olsen is a key member of the San Jose Lions Club with a 5 year perfect attendance record. He wears a 30 year service chevron having joined the Seattle, Washington, club as a charter member in 1921. Accompanying him was the Cabinet Secretary, Donald M. Elvey, also of San Jose.

Lions International was formerly founded in 1917 at Dallas, Texas, and during the past 34 years has become the largest, most active and fastest growing service club organization in the world. There are Lions clubs in 32 countries of the world with a membership of over 425,000.

During the fiscal year 1950-51, 880 new Lions clubs were organized—a new club every 10 hours.

The local Lions club was formed just 10 years ago, and has shown a steady increase in membership over that past decade. Ed Weisenburger, dean of the local club, is also the oldest living member in the entire district.

Meanwhile, it was also lady's day at the regular meeting. Some 60 Lions and their wives appeared for the luncheon which saw Elio Fontanta, Joe Lewkowitz and Gil O'Shaughnesy making with some melody. Fontanta squeezes an accordian, Lewkowitz pounds a bass fiddle, and the former Lions president plays a mean clarinet.

Contribute Old Clothes To Aid Korean Refugees

Many Lives Saved By Cleaning Attics

By MRS. ARTHUR HEYDEN

Service men recently returned from the Korean front, find it difficult to depict the agony and misery of the Korean people as wave after wave of war has surged and pounded up and down virtually the entire peninsula.

It is hard for anyone who has not seen it to imagine what this has meant in death, desolation and human woe. Literally millions of people . . . even the well-to-do, have lost everything they owned, their homes, their possessions, their supplies of food; everything but the clothing they are actually wearing.

One of the cruelest and most tragic aspects of the carnage and savagery of the Communist war is the plight of the children, who have lost their parents and become separated from them in the whirlwind of destruction. This has not happened so much to the tiny tots . . . their mothers and fathers carry them as they travel afoot, but it is the boys and girls of seven and eight, and older . . . the ones who are big enough to walk and to run when they are frightened. Now they are homeless, with no food and clothing, and no way of knowing whether their parents are alive or dead.

They need all the help that can be given them, for the sight of them is enough to touch even the hardest of hearts.

Let's all try a little harder to get to that crowded closet and discard garments little Mary or Johnny have outgrown. An outmoded coat or dress or Mom's shirts, sweaters, in fact any usable garment to keep someone warm.

Let's make these unfortunates' Christmas warm with our generosity. Clothing chairman of this citywide drive in Daly City, sponsored by Court St. Mary, C.D.A., Mrs. Arthur Heyden, says the drive is picking up momentum with each day.

Clothes can still be deposited at the following designated places for the next two weeks, or call PLaza 5-6325.

Meeting Scheduled Friday Evening To Discuss December 2 Xmas Bazaar

By MRS. EDNA CUBIC

An important meeting of the OLPH Mothers' Club will be held Friday evening, November 9, at 8 o'clock as preliminary arrangements are discussed for the Christmas Bazaar to be held Sunday, December 2.

Mrs. Francis Denning, president, announces many innovations added to the Bazaar this year to lighten many shopping and baby-sitting problems that always beset woman's realm at this busy time of the year. Myriads of handmade Christmas gifts will be available at moderate prices and therefore, of course, it's first come—first served!

To minimize culinary efforts for all who attend the Bazaar, a Delicatessen Booth is being introduced. It will be Mom's day out of the kitchen, as a colorful cross-section of appetizing variations in food, alluring enough to make the Sphinx's mouth water, will be there to take home ready to serve.

It is notable that several new mothers in the Parish have been appointed to chairmanships this year. Mrs. Denning, general chairmen:

Cake Booth: Mrs. Alvin McArdle.

Delicatessen Both: Mrs. Donald Neville Brown with Mrs. Andrew J. Chrystal as co-chairman.

Doll Booth: Mrs. Michael V. Cubic, with Mrs. R. E. Hathaway II, as co-chairman.

Grocery Booth: Chairman to be selected.

Investment Booth: Mrs. M. J. Cresta.

Mistletoe & Corsage Booth: Mrs. Howard Coilins.

Refreshments: Chairman to be selected.

Money Booth: Mrs. Anthony Ricci.

Sewing Booth: Mrs. John Jordan.

Surprise Package Booth: Mrs. Richard Ennis, with Mrs. Horace Siino as co-chairman.

Toy Booth: Mrs. L. A. Thiebaut III, with Mrs. George Bonini as co-chairman.

The third grade mothers will assist Mrs. J. Balestreri, hospitality chairman, during the social hour following the regular meeting.

DEAR PARENTS

By Jane Keith

Last Saturday I escorted my young son, my daughter and a pigtailed friend of hers to the Cow Palace.

They are all crazy for horses. They love horses better than anything! I too, love horses, but Saturday afternoon remains one of my few free times of the week. Free afternoons I love better than horses, but after all, one has a duty to one's children and so we were through the gates by a quarter to two!

By that time I was feeling pretty noble about the whole thing. After refusing Barbara a horse for Christmas and birthdays since the age of four—here I was giving her masses of horses. Also, there would be dogies, broncs, Dude Martin and Acacia, the cow. I also presumed that once inside the management would separate the real cowboys from the ones waiting in line with us. The program didn't say so, but when I sit in a box seat at the Cow Palace I want real cows and real cowboys—Neighborhood "Hoppys" I can see anytime!

Being somewhat near sighted, the full glories of the place didn't hit me as soon as they did the children. While my eyes were still dilating or whatever it is eyes do in changing from light to dark, they had already sized up the set up and were raring to go.

"Look, mother, HOT DOGS!" cried Barbara.

"Cotton candy!" her friend murmured decorously. Child guests often do this murmuring, but I noticed they carry quite a punch if you watch their elbows as they do it. Still, it wrings your heart to see a guestly quarter held out in such carnival like surroundings. Right then you know neither the quarter nor your own purse is a likely candidate for long survival!

Human Chain

"Cowboy hats" sighed Malcolm —or "hat boy," as we call him at home. "I TOLD you we could buy one here!" and with surprising strength he yanked me over the tanbark to the hat booth.

"When we get in our seats, children! When we get in our seats! Then the man comes around selling things!" And forming a human chain I steering them off to the stables for a look at the horseflesh they had been talking about for so long. "Now," I spoke with wonder spread with strain "Would you look at those darling Shetland ponies?" and they did—just in time to avoid the pleading eyes of a man selling chameleons "Alive, everyone alive" in neatly packaged boxes.

The horses were really something to see. "Santez, the world's fastest spinning horse" was my favorite. He was a big stallion—at least he looked big to me—with his head held by ropes. What warmed the cockles of my heart, though, was the sign on the door of his stall. It said, "Santez, foaled June 15, 1944." "That is my birthday!" I said happily, but eleven year old daughters have an unhappy way with such spiritually satisfying moments for mothers.

White Horse

"You weren't born in 1944, mother" Barbara laughed gaily, "Now when did you say—?"

"Never mind," was my short reply, but shucks, she was off to the other end of the corridor by then. They had a row of white horses standing there. She always makes a wish when she sees a white horse. Otherwise I am sure she would have remained to administer the "coup de grace."

Our seats were good. They had strong wooden seats and backs. Right in front of us was a stout steel railing. This came in handy during the show as it left plenty of room for me to twist around in as I paid off the various vendors. The children would spot the ice cream man, say, when he was half way up in the balcony and place their orders with me. "You tell him, mother" they would say. Then they would glue themselves back on the railing. This gave me a chance to check my change which was becoming smaller and smaller as the acts progressed.

No Cows

Malcolm was the most difficult member of the group. He had seen Dude Martin on T.V. So there were horses in the arena, so what? "You told me they were going to ride cows!" he would "broken record" over and over again. This wouldn't have been too hard to take if you could have shut off the amplifying machine in the ceiling. But, at such shows, the amplifyers must go on and Malcolm wouldn't shut up. The "cow riding" was last on the bill, too.

Next year I think I'll rig up a tent near my cosy chair in the living room. The children will be in the tent and I will be sitting there with my feet stretched out on a hassock. In my hands will be a good book. By my side will be a plate of sandwiches and a strong cup of coffee. When it is time for the rodeo to start I will tune in some cowboy records and start passing out the cake, ice cream and popcorn to my infants.

Scheming

At half time I will put one of Barbara's white rats in a pasteboard box and start my spiel "all alive, everyone all alive!" and sell it off to the highest bidder in the tent. This should liven up the proceedings and bring the exciting flavor of the circus into our little house. Or sell chance on "guess the weight of Tiger, the cat! Only $1.60 a ticket!"

If my little scheme would only work we could tear up the mortgage on the homestead, but I am not too hopeful. Children have no sense of cooperation with such practical ideas. They will probably over rule me and have me standing by the same old Cow Palace gate next year. They just love horses!

DOLL, CHRISTMAS GIFT BOOTHS OPEN

Members and friends of Court St. Mary will have the opportunity to pick up a doll, or sewing with Christmas just around the corner, before and after the meeting Thursday, November 15, at 17 Hillcrest drive.

Booths will be set up in the auditorium.

The meeting will begin promptly at 8:15 p.m. in the Blue Room.

Colma PTA Celebrates 19th Birthday With Fitting Ceremonies

The Colma PTA celebrated its 19th Birthday in the Colma Community Center, with Mrs. John C. Wiesner, president, presiding Tuesday. The unit honored its charter members and past presidents.

The charter members who were introduced were: Mrs. Hazel Hollingsworth, Mrs. M. Pauline Brown, Mrs. E. Hosmer, Miss G. Gannon, Mrs. Hazel Colwell, Miss Marie Traynor, Mrs. E. Mertens, Miss Marjorie Tobias and Miss Hestor Blaylock.

Past presidents who were introduced were: Mrs. Tina Hollingsworth, Mrs. Gino Landi, Mrs. George Bertucci, Mrs. E. J. Dennis and Mrs. J. D. Hopper. Also, among the other honored guests were: Mrs. Hugh Falconer, president of James L. Snell PTA, Supt. and Mrs. H. Z. Wiebel, Dr. John Ivan, and Mrs. G. J. Sirex, president of 17th District.

Mrs. Sirex was the guest speaker, bringing a message on "The Home—the First Business of Parents. She explained that service cannot be bought with dollars, and also that each one has a different idea of what a happy home is—but that good human relationships are really what make a happy home.

Two young accompanists, Lowell Klaisner and Ronald Casentini, lent the evening a festive air with their playing of the National Anthem and Happy Birthday to the unit.

The prizes for the winning classes in the membership drive were presented to Mrs. Ann Gray and her class representatives of the third grade of Jefferson Elementary school, and to Mrs. Hazel Colwell for her first grade at the Thornton school.

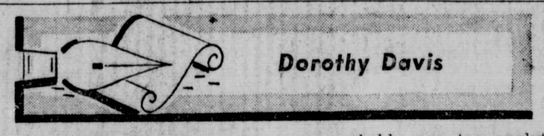
Mrs. Jack Clayton, hospitality chairman, and her committee with Mrs. John Dennis, Jr., Mrs. H. W. Henise, Mrs. G. Knox, Mrs. John D. Hansen, Mrs. Claude Newman and Mrs. W. L. Lembke, set a beautiful table honoring the birthday. The table was decorated to similate a birthday cake with autumn flowers and candles forming the center piece. The color scheme of blue and gold was effectively carried out.

It was announced that the Red Cross Mobil Unit is planning to be here November 20 from 2 p.m. to 7 p.m. at the Community Presbyterian church on 87th street off Junipero Serra. Contact Mrs. Sanford Vickers for further information, PLaza 5-3590, if you can give blood, or any of your time, or provide transportation.

Under the able guidance of Mr. R. Crane, the ladies are binding and repairing books for the school library. If you wish to assist them call Mrs. John J. Offenbach, PL. 5-1659.

On December 4 the Colma PTA is giving its annual Christmas Party for the parents and the children.

The parent education classes are still being conducted by Dr. John Iivan at the Jefferson high school Tuesdays and Thursdays from 7 to 9 p.m. in Room 4.



Dorothy Davis

Dear Dorothy:

I am the second wife of a man who drives a truck and am trying awfully much to bring up his two little girls he had by his first wife as good as I know how. I feel like dieing because I feel so bad because his first wife came from a much higher class than us and my husband tells me she would turn over in her grave if she knew how I was bringing up her children.

After she died my husband was very lonely and I was a waitress at a coffee shop where he ate and we got to talking one day and then we got married. I love him and I hope he loves me. He says my manners and like I talk isn't like he first wants the girls raised and I try so awfully to be a good mother to them and he keeps nagging me all the time and I go crazy like and get headaches and get all mad and then everything gets worse. Please, what can I do?

A. T.

Dear "A. T."

You are refusing to accept the responsibilities of the marriage into which you entered. While you were single you were accountable to no one but yourself for your deplorable English and bad manners.

However, it is not fair to these two little girls to subject them to the kind of environment your ignorance creates for them. If you love your husband as you say you do, you will do everything you can to educate yourself and bring up his children in an atmosphere of which they will not be ashamed, and which will enable them to compete with other children at school.

I would suggest that you attend night school. Surely your husband could stay home some nights a week with the children and enable you to do this.

The fact that you consider that your husband's first wife came from a different type of society than yours is only your excuse for maintaining your ignorant condition. In this country all persons have an equal chance for education and no one need be ignorant. Therefore, your problem will be solved by your attending night school and educating yourself.

Dorothy

Dear Dorothy:

My sister always steals all my boy friends. I am 17½ and she is about one year younger than I am. She has plenty of boy friends of her own, but whenever one of the boys at the high school where we go comes to see me, she does everything she can to take him away from me. Our parents both work in the daytime and go out a lot in the evening so that we hardly ever see them and whenever I tell my mother what's happening she tells me not to bother her with such nonsense.

When I talk to my sister about this, she gives me a blank stare and says she doesn't know what I'm talking about. We don't look much a'ike but she isn't any prettier than I am and we both have the same kind of clothes and so I'm all mixed up about all this. Why should a boy at school want to come to see me and then the minute she come around, like her better than me? Please help me. I'm so unhappy.

Sally

Dear Sally:

From what I can interpret from your letter, it seems to me that you probably are too analytical about your social relationships. Seeing that you and your sister are equal in appearance the trouble would, naturally, be your mental outlook.

Your sister wouldn't be able to take your boy friends away from you unless they found her more entertaining than yourself. Instead of thinking so much about losing them to her, why not just relax and concentrate on having a good time and to be as entertaining as possible yourself. By doing this, I think the boys at school will find you as attractive as your sister.

Dorothy

Dear Dorothy:

For several years my husband and I have saved for a home of our own. Now we have enough money to make a down payment on a nice place. Now he says he wants to use that money for a new car. He says that conditions are so uncertain that why should we tie ourselves down to buying a home. He says we should get a new car and enjoy life while we can. We have no children and he uses this as another reason why we don't need a place of our own, and says that without any ties we can go where we please on weekends.

I am heartbroken about this. For so many years I've planned on exactly the kind of a home of my own that I wanted. I embroidered doilies and things and bought little figurines and vases and things like that. We have a car that will last us a long time yet and I want a home of my own so much and now he won't agree. The money we saved is all in his name in the bank and I want your help to tell me what I should do.

Miserable

Dear "Miserable":

Your problem can be solved by staging a subtle psychological campaign on your husband. Don't argue with him about this matter as that would be approaching the problem from a negative angle.

Re-new his interest in owning a home by pointing out to him, little by little, the advantages of such a move. Have him meet other persons who enjoy their own places and show him attractive houses on the market. Also build up his confidence in the future and in general conditions. The world has lasted a long time and it will undoubtedly not come to an end in the very near future.

Then, too, does he have any hobbies that can be developed through home ownership such as gardening? By employing these various psychological methods, I'm sure that your problem will be solved.

KATHLEEN NORRIS

Safety Belts

HOW ABOUT SAFETY BELTS for all the seats of our cars? Belts like those we fasten so regularly on the shortest of air trips?

Before an airplane leaves the ground, and before it lands, and if ever any rough weather threatens, passengers are required to strap about themselves a broad webbing belt. This belt opens with a single flip of one finger, there is no question of getting entangled in it or being unable to open it instantly.

"Why not have similar belts in cars?" asks Clayton M. Allen, engineer in the department of water and power in Los Angeles. Mr. Allen has studied and charted the all-important subject of accident control, and in a long talk we had on the subject he called my attention to what he calls the "secret weapon" against accidents in cars. The secret weapon is the safety belt.

Law of Inertia

We all know that when a car is stopped suddenly while going at good speed, the bodies on the seats of that car do not stop. They are subject to what he calls the "keep-on-going" law. And they keep on going, straight through the glass of the windshield, or onto their knees from the back seat, with a consequent danger of concussion.

This year our fatalities in motor cars will reach the million mark. We've actually killed a million of our fellow creatures since cars came into everyday use some 4 years ago. This figure exceeds the combined fatalities for all our wars by the way.

But it isn't just the dead. It's the nine million more who have suffered shocking injuries and disfigurements by being flung against seats and doors and handles, or gashed with broken glass.

One night years ago my brother and I were walking a hospital corridor, waiting for the announcement of a baby's arrival. A man of perhaps 50 was walking, too, and it was natural to ask him if he was also awaiting a delightful event of the sort.

"No," he said mildly, "I'm waiting for my wife. She's telling our little girl, Ellen, who is 16 that the accident she was in yesterday has blinded her for life."

Another girl I know, 5 years old wears a long white cut across her little face that is lumpy and misshapen because a sudden stop of her father's car flung her against the door handle when she was two. And in my town stands a church built by the heartbroken parents of a beautiful 18-year-old who was thrown from a car when the door opened and chanced to be hurled against a tree. These girls, and hundreds more, could have been saved by the simple device of safety belts.

We've all experienced accidents that involve violent jerking and flinging about. We would be the last to protest when the sign "fasten seat belts" flashes up in the plane. We would have no respect for the traveler who thought it smart to laugh at them. Yet any one who travels on our highways at crowded hours and in Sunday congestion now is in infinitely more danger than he who comes down to earth in the great clearances that are landing fields.

Why Not Belts

So why not seat belts in cars? It seems to me that the mothers and fathers of America's children and teen-agers ought to welcome this idea. Mr. Allen talked of such abstruse matters as "the law of inertia, the law of momentum, the law of opposing forces," and of the fearful velocity of the occupant of a car when that car is abruptly jarred or suddenly stopped.

We don't all know about these technical terms, but we do all know the anxieties that beset us when ever the children we love are in the car. We shudder at the accounts—daily accounts—of what has happened to other people's children. We shrink away from pictures of crumpled cars, glass and blood.

"There are other safety features of course," Clayton Allen said. "Loose seats, insecure doors, protuberances like handles and ash trays, the sharp hood ornament that sometimes act as pedestrian 'cutter-uppers,' bumper guards and fenders that tend to spin the car if it upsets. But since a large proportion of in-the-car injuries and maimings and even killings would be removed by safety belts, why not safety belts?

Careful driving is, of course, the first requirement. But that depends upon the other driver.

Record Crowd Turns Out For W'lake Halloween

Close To 900 Children Marched In Parade

In a large and picturesque variety of costumes, approximately 862 children marched in the second annual Westlake Halloween parade October 31.

The parade was led by King Ronald Nagy, Queen JoAnn Johnson, the queen's attendant, Patricia Deconomou, and the jester, Richard Novque, all riding in a car donated for the occasion by Mr. and Mrs. Laurie. Following the car was Mrs. E. Benone costumed as a witch.

At the clubhouse of the Westlake Subdivision Improvement Association, the king and queen were each presented with a trophy and the queen's attendant and the jester with identification bracelets by Dr. George Gibson, president of the association. Delicious Halloween refreshments were served and a small gift presented to each child.

Harry Bosbery, chairman of the Halloween festivities, wishes to thank the following for their help in making this annual event so successful: the women on the serving committee, the Westlake junior league girls; Oliver Fazzio, chairman of the parade, Mrs. E. Benone and Mr. and Mrs. Laurie.

DEN JOTTINGS
By Louise Daniel

In recognition of National Cat Week we'll start off with a handful of feline items. There's a cat in the bay area who is acquiring a fondness for sandwiches. She makes her home at a service station located at a corner where the bus stops to let out dozens of high school students. And every morning she meets the busses and among the outpouring young persons there's always at least one who shares part of one of his lunch bag sandwiches with this pet.

At the corner of Alemany and St. Charles streets, the bus picks up a group of five year olds to transport them to a grammar school several blocks away. The other morning when these youngsters got on, they were chattering excitedly about whether or not a certain individual was going to get on the bus, too. Finally they decided among themselves that she wasn't and they all ran to the window and waved good-bye to her. The object of their concern was a large black and white cat. She took their attention in feline stride. She was nonchalantly basking herself in the warm sun.

Another cat item includes the one about the cat in Phoenix, Arizona, who some years ago gave birth to three kittens, one red, another white and the third a solid slate blue. They were named "Legion," "Veterans" and "Bureau."

News comes of the Vancouver, Washington, cat who eats raw squash, dill pickles, tomatoes and saurerkraut in addition to regular cat fare.

This is probably an entirely different reason for attending a Parent-Teacher association meeting. A Broadmoor woman stated she was going to attend the meeting of the Westlake group of this organization solely for the purpose of seeing what the president wears. The president is Mrs. Howard Dunbar whom she described as "a beautiful, gorgeous blonde."

An exquisite, luxury perfume from Paris has just now for the first time in the United States been packaged in an amount as small as one-sixth of an ounce. The price for this amount is nominal. And even though one-sixth of an ounce may not seem like much, yet the perfume is so concentrated that a very little bit lasts a long time. Consequently women who demand the very best but who have limited incomes can now enjoy the pleasure of this unexcelled fragrance. Information regarding its name and where it can be obtained may be had by phoning The Record, PLaza 5-4321.

CHICKEN DINNER PROVES SUCCESS

The Business Men's fried chicken dinner held at Grace Presbyterian church Wednesday night was pronounced a great success with a large attendance on hand to enjoy the home cooked meal.

Dr. Christie Innes of Calvary church in San Francisco presented an interesting illustrated lecture.

Dr. William Harberts, pastor of the local church, wishes to thank all those who participated in this event. Proceeds of the dinner will be used to landscape the church grounds sometime in the near future.

Conservation To Be Meeting Topic; Blood Program Now Under Study

"Understanding Our Forests—Their Role In Preserving the Future for California Children" will be explained by Dr. Joel F. Gustafson to members of Seventeenth District California Congress of Parents and Teachers on Thursday, November 15. Half Moon Bay Union high school will be host for the full day meeting, which is to convene at 10 a.m.

Dr. Gustafson, a native Californian, took his Ph.D. at Stanford University, and is assistant professor of biological sciences for San Francisco State College. As an instructor in the Sierran camps of the National Audubon Society for three summers. Dr. Gustafson has acquired authoritative information on wild life and forest conservation problems.

Conservation chairman Mrs. David R. Sears of Belmont secured the speaker, and Mrs. George Elliott of Pescadero is director for the home service department program, when chairmen will be introduced. An exhibit of books is being prepared by Miss Clara B. Dills of Redwood City, county librarian and home reading chairman.

Coastside

Since the district president, Mrs. G. J. Sirex of San Carlos, is to be in Los Angeles for the state board of managers bi-monthly meeting on November 14-15, Mrs. H. P. Eder of Burlingame, first vice-president, will conduct the sessions. Official greetings will be given by Ellis R. Benson, principal of Half Moon Bay high school.

Coastside hospitality chairmen have arranged a special luncheon for which reservations are requested by Monday, November 12. Unit representatives are asked to notify the reservation chairman in their section of the county.

Meanwhile, a special program of blood procurement from PTA donors is being emphasized throughout San Mateo county in November. Because local units of Seventeenth District California Congress of Parents and Teachers have many family members in the armed forces, PTA people are found to be most responsive to the appeal of Red Cross and the county blood bank.

Blood Donors

"It is a tragic fact," reports Mrs. Emory L. Morris of San Mateo, Red Cross recruitment chairman, "that Korean casualty lists now exceed 95,00 injured and dead. We know there is no substitute for plasma or whole blood to save lives in hospitals or in the field, yet service men and women donate 55 per cent of the blood needed."

Monthly quota for the Peninsula is 700 pints. When the 73 local PTA units pledge at least ten pints apiece, this life-giving blood soon can be on its way to Korea to further reduce the death rate of the wounded. Schedules for the Red Cross mobile unit's appearance in each community have been announced by Mrs. R. F. Palmer of San Mateo, district community service chairman.

Appointments

Also, appointments for armed forces blood donations may be made at the blood bank to suit anyone's convenience. Individuals who have not signed the PTA pledge cards are invited to become donors in this way, by specifying that credit be given the local PTA. Since the average amount of blood necessary to save one soldier is five pints, parents and teachers are reminded that transportation to the blood bank can be arranged for four or more donors who care enough to make this gift of life.

POPULATION INCREASES

The population of New Mexico stood at the 681,187 mark in the 1950 census to show an increase of more than twenty-eight per cent during the decade from 1940 to 1950, reports the National Automoble Club.

Broadmoor Bazaar Set For This Week-End

By EUNICE IRVINE

The time has come for the Fiesta and Bazaar of the Women's Association of the Community Presbyterian Church of Broadmoor, to be held this Thursday and Friday evening, November 8 and 9, from 6 until 10 p.m.

The Bazaar will be held at the church, on 87th street near Washington. The public is cordially invited.

The purpose of the affair is to raise funds for the new building, and enthusiasm for the project has caused the writer to attempt to wax poetic.

Remember, in November,
It's the Bazaar,
Remember, in November,
There'll be gifts from near and far,
Dolls dressed up so prettily,
They'll win your heart away,
Elephants white you'll find just right,
And skirts both lovely and gay.
Aprons and towels and homey things
So beautifully done, the housewife sings.
For Christmas joy there are candles gay,
Cakes and cards to send away,
Christmas wreaths and ornaments, too,
And a wishing well all for you.
Now here is something you shouldn't miss,
For the gifts you'll find are just half of this;
Fiesta fun is the other half,
And we guarantee that you will laugh
When your hand is read, and you hear it said,
"There is money coming your way."
So come to the Bazaar where good times are,
Have dinner with us, too,
The food is good, the coffee hot,
Surely it will hit the spot.
Remember the date, November eight,
And the ninth is still in time;
Doors open at six and close at ten,
The place is the church,
We'll see you, then!

Colma PM Lads Score Easy Victory Over Our Lady Of Perpetual Help Team

By HARRY ARONSON
Coordinator of Athletics

Scoring in every period, the Colma "B" team ran around, over and through the boys from Our Lady of Perpetual Help School with ease. Led by Daryl Hall, who scored three touchdowns and added an extra point after one of his scores, the Colma team was never in danger.

In the first quarter Billy Harold, O.L.P.H. tail back, was able to connect with a few passes to Jack Bautista, but that was the end of their threats. Andy Ruelas, Colma back, started the fireworks when he tossed a 25 yard beauty to Daryl Hall. Andy then carried the ball for a good 20 yard gain to place the ball on the P. H. 20 yard stripe. Hall faded back and hit Ruelas with a perfect pass to place the ball on the one yard line. Hall, one the last down went around left end for his first score.

Punt

In the second quarter, Billy Harold, unable to make headway, was forced to punt. His kick was short and was returned to the P.H. 30 by Colma's Ruelas. Hall faked a pass and sped down to the P. H. one before being forced out of bounds by Waldo Benavides. Ruelas calmly pitched the rubber ball into the hands of Charles Thur for Colma's second score. Hall sprinted around right end for the extra point, making the score 13 to 0 at the half.

The second half was a repeat performance of the first two quarters. Hall passed to Ruelas for 25 yards and the latter scampered 15 more yards to the P.H. 18. Hall again swished around right end to score.

Scores Again

Waldo Benavides, P. H. standout, intercepted a Ruelas pass and ran it to the Colma 22, but the Colma boys stiffened and scored again when Hall retaliated by intercepting Bautista's pass and ran it over for a T. D. Hall's pass to Ruelas added the extra point to make the score 26 to 0.

The last touchdown was once again made by Hall when he danced around right end for ten yards into pay dirt. The play was set up by a poor punt going out of bounds on the P.H. 10 yard line. Final score (C) 32 O.L.P.H. 0.

Colma "A" 18 O.L.P.H. "A" 0

Combining a sharp passing attack and an alert defense, the Colma "A" team made it two for two over the boys from O.L.P.H. The win increased the win streak to three games against no losses.

Once again the passing arm of Jerry Gruenwald found the range for three touchdowns and the all around defensive play of Cortez Fernandez spelled defeat for the P. H. team.

Taking the opening kickoff, the Colma boys found the going tough and were forced to punt. On the very first play Fernandez intercepted Frank Bricker's pass on the P. H. 25. O.L.P.H. again stopped the running and passing attack thrown at them by Colma and took the ball on downs. Bricker tried to pass on first down but the alert Fernandez again intercepted the ball. Jerry Gruenwald decided to put Colma in the lead so he tossed to Captain Bob Grubb for 15 yards and Grubb wasted little time getting over the goal line to score the first touchdown of the morning for his side.

Fade Back

The P. H. team again took possession of the ball after the kickoff and Bricker faded back to pass on first down. Yes, Fernandez was there to "steal" the ball again to make it three straight interceptions on first downs. That should have made Bricker angry but he tried again on first down, after Gruenwald punted to the P. H. 6 yard line. This time Gruenwald intercepted Bricker's pass to make it four for four.

Jack Brush, O.L.P.H. back, turned in a fine defensive game and batted away several sure touchdown heaves in the second quarter. The half ended with the score 6 to 0 in Colma's favor.

In the third period Gruenwald continued to fill the air with passes and connected to Darrell Hutchinson for the second touchdown. Jack Brush made a valiant attempt to bat the ball away, but missed by an eye lash.

First Pass

With the score 12 to 0, Frank Bricker completed his first pass to Martin Krenn for 10 yards, but on the very next play Bob Grubb intercepted Bricker's pass on his own 22. Held for no gains Colma gave the ball over to Bricker and Co. and once more the ball changed hands after Gruenwald intercepted Bricker's pass and lateraled to Bob Grubb on the P. H. 23. From here Gruenwald fired a strike to Hutchinson who scored his second touchdown, to make the final score 18 to 0.

Matean J.C. Grid Season Nears End

San Mateo Junior College closes its home season of football games Saturday night on the Burlingame high school field. Modesto Junior College will be the league opponent. A game a week later at Contra Costa West Junior College (in Richmond) will close the 1951 season for the Mateans.

San Mateo lost its conference game to Santa Rosa Saturday, 20-15, in a game played on the San Mateo high school field. The Mateans led, 15-13, until late in the game.

As the end of the football season begins to draw near, San Mateo is turning more attention to basketball, and Coach Ray Balsley now has a picked squad of 19 players practicing three afternoons a week. The first practice game is scheduled for late this month. Ervin Bonner, all-conference guard in 1950, heads this squad of players.

Indianapolis Drivers Go In AAA Auto Championship Race At Bay Meadows

A cavalcade of the finest racing machines and drivers in the country, the 150-mile AAA National Championship big car race here at Bay Meadows this Sunday is expected to lure some 15,000 fans.

Co-promoters J. C. Agajanian and William P. Kyne have posted a guaranteed purse of $10,000 to assure the finest in competition for the last event on the 1951 National Championship schedule. Last year's speedfest lured a turnaway throng of 15,000, with the purse amounting to $12,900.

Tony Bettenhausen of Tinley Park, Ill., winner last year, returns for a repeat attempt in Murrell Belanger's sleek No. 99 Offenhauser. This auto was later driven to victory at Indianapolis by Lee Wallard.

Torrid Tony resumed piloting No. 99 when Wallard was seriously burned in a sprint car accident just a few days after winning the "500." Wallard will see the Armistice Day classic as a guest of the General Petroleum Corp. and the two speed impressarios. Tony has won eight races on the circuit and will try to win this one for Lee. Tony has clinched the 1951 driving championship on points.

The Armistice Day classic will feature the very same cars and drivers that compete annually at Indianapolis. Many of the $30,000 Offenhauser autos are the new lightweight types being groomed for the 1952 Indianapolis classic and thus will afford fans a "preview" of next year's Memorial Day event.

The all-star entry list features the drivers who placed second through sixth this year at Indianapolis—Mike Nazaruk, Jack McGrath and Manny Ayulo who teamed for third, Andy Linden, Bobby Ball and Henry Banks, in that order.

Too, there's Duane Carter, 8th; Bettenhausen, 9th; Gene Force, 11th; Sam Hanks, 12th; Bill Schindler, 13th; Walt Faulkner, 15th; Jim Davies, 16th; Fred Agabashian, 17th; Johnnie Parsons, 21st; Troy Ruttman, 23rd; Rodger Ward, 27th; John McDowell, 32nd; and Joe James, 33rd. Schindler is the one-legged star who placed third here last year.

Gates to the San Mateo turf plant will open at 10 a.m. Time trials open at 12 noon to determine the 18 starters. Jimmy Jackson will green-flag the field into action at 2:30 p.m. from a new DeSoto convertible furnished by Periat and Sons, San Mateo, and driven by Ralph DePalma, all-time speedway hero.

San Jose Brewers Down Windbreakers

S.S.F. Team Loses Chance For Crown

The Windbreakers lost their chance to the crown of the Northern California Athletic League in the last three seconds of their game with the San Jose Brewers Sunday on Hunter Field in South City.

Gene Menges, quarterback of the San Jose "T," faded back and tossed a pass into the end zone to George Persha to break a 13 to 13 deadlock in the last three seconds of play. Menges also passed to another TD with one minute left in the half.

The Windbreakers started off strong the first time they got the ball in the first quarter with Robbie Barbetti flipping to Aldo DeTomasi on the mid-stripe and DeTomasi went all the way. Four minutes later DeTomasi cut off tackle and went 56 yards for the Windbreakers second score. Andy Boido kicked one of the conversions.

Late in the second period San Jose took over on their 28 and marched to the Windbreakers 29 where Menges passed to Joe Novakovich for a score. Woody Lynn got the extra point.

Starting the second half the Windbreakers took the ball from their own 44 all the way to the San Jose one, where they failed to score. San Jose took over and ripped up the Windbreakers line in 19 plays and went 99 yards, all on the ground for their second score. Woody Lynn missed, tieing the score up.

After threatening four times with the Windbreakers line quelling the attack every time, Gene Menges passed 17 yards to George Persha in the end zone. Three seconds later the gun ending the game went off.

San Jose impressed the 3500 spectators with the hard running of fullback Herman Reed and the passing of Menges. San Jose has stopped two undefeated teams this year away from home. This was the first defeat for the Windbreakers this season and the first defeat on their home field since 1947.

In winning this game San Jose clinched the Northern California Athletic League title.

Score by quarters:

Windbreakers	13	0	0	0—13
San Jose	0	7	6	7—20

County Receives $245,804 In Highway Funds

Thomas H. Kuchel, State Controller, reported today the distribution of $43,124,730 from the Highway Users Tax Fund for the quarter ended September 30, 1951.

For purposes of State expenditures on highways, $23,679,221 were deposited in the State Highway Fund and $5,467,043 went to the same fund for future allocation to cities. A total of $13,978,466 was shared by California's 58 counties.

The amount distributed represents a decrease of $16,467,569 as compared with the $59,592,309 distributed for the quarter ended June 30, 1951. This decrease is more than accounted for in the fact that no funds were available for transfer from the Motor Vehicle Fund to the Highway Users Tax Fund whereas last quarter $21,000,000 were so transferred for distribution.

Kuchel reported that $39,362,708 of the funds distributed were derived from the Gasoline Tax, an increase of $4,278,976 or more than 12 per cent over last quarter. Use (diesel) Fuel Tax provided $1,713,633; transfer from the Motor Vehicle Transportation Tax Fund, $1,985,169 and miscellaneous, $63,220.

The largest share in the apportionment, $4,362,916, went to Los Angeles County. Alameda County was next with $681,226 and San Francisco followed with $602,705. Alpine County received the smallest sum, $16,792.

Kuchel stated that San Mateo County received $254,804 as its share.

New College Meat Market Ties For Top Spot With Daly City Lions

Moving up from second place this week, the New College Hill Meat Market tied the Daly City Lions Club in the Merchants' League bowling contest.

Fired by Kegler F, Marino, who scored 212, the lads from the market promise to top the Lions who have been league leaders for the 8 weeks of the 28 week contest.

However, the Lions haven't given up. As long as they have Joe Belli, who last week ran up a 208 game, there is little to worry them.

There's another tie in the second birth, with the Brisbane Lions Club and the Daly City Eagles. Top man last week for the local keglers was Andrew VanDerWerff, with a score of 203.

And the Eagles may well break the tie with the top ace in the league, H. Kalinin, who to date has racked up a series high score of 577, and who last week hit the top score with 224.

Following are the standings to-date:

UMT Proposal

American Friends Service Group Opposed To Universal Military Program

Universal Military Training will be permanently fastened on the United States unless we in the United States decisively reject the proposals made in yesterday's report of the National Security Training Committee, Stephen Thiermann, Regional Director of the American Friends Service Committee, said here today.

"There is great danger that Congress will enact this drastic measure by a hurried acceptance of the Commission report. Although everyone agrees that we confront a dangerous international situation, many are convinced universal military training will work vastly more damage than good in the effort to achieve true peace and security."

He called attention to a statement issued today by Rear Admiral Arnold E. True, USN, (ret.).

Opposition

Admiral True, an associate professor of Science at San Jose State College, San Jose, California, said, "I do not believe that universal military training in the United States of America is either necessary or desirable." His opposition to universal military training, he said, is "based upon a careful study of the current world situation in relation to history, and upon 30 years of experience in the military service of the United States as well as nine years of studying and teaching science in United States colleges." The four reasons he listed for his opposition were:

"1. For 175 years, our country has existed and prospered in an atmosphere of individual initiative and freedom. We have been involved in wars against nations whose citizens were regimented and trained under the principles of universal military training. We have won those wars mainly because our citizen-soldiers did show more initiative, ingenuity, and originality than their opponents who had been cast in a common mold."

Victory

"2. If we must fight another war, it is a generally admitted fact that the victory in that war will depend upon the application of science to new weapons and new methods. Science thrives in the relative freedom of our colleges and universities rather than on the drill field, the parade ground, or the military barracks. Universal military training will take our young men out of the schools at the very time when the school atmosphere is most important to their scientific development."

"3. To surrender in advance, those things for which we are preparing to fight, and to follow in the footsteps of those whom we declare to be responsible for the world's ills, is an indication of a neurotic fear and a lack of conviction that our way of life is worthwhile, or that freedom can be defended by free men."

"4. The current struggle in the world is ideological. The most effective defense of our way of life is leadership in a bold new program, worthy of free and intelligent human beings, leading to a peaceful and orderly world community; a program that will appeal to the mind and spirit of man; an offensive program rather than a defensive one; a positive rather than a negative one. Universal military training is a step backward rather than forward."

High School Will Present Aquacade

An outstanding spectacle of talent, costuming and lighting is in store for local residents.

It is the 1951 Aquacade at the Jefferson Union high school swimming pool on November 29, 30, and December 1, at 8:15 p.m.

This year's edition of the swimming and dancing event is entitled, "Dreamer's World" and will depict an imaginary trip around the world with visits to more than 20 countries.

The project is being produced by the Girls Physical Education department at the high school with Miss Virginia Parent, general chairman. Miss Marjorie Erickson is in charge of the swimming members and Mrs. Mary Newswanger has charge of the dancing acts.

Other departments at the high school who are cooperating in the production of the acquacade are the music, art and industrial arts.

Tickets will go on sale at the high school next week.

Mrs. Mark Swoverland
PLaza 5-4158

Hi, there. Everyone is getting ready to dig in for the winter, but in spite of that there are still many parties. So let us tell about them. Particularly about a very unusual party held on Foothill drive.

FOOTHILL

Walt and Darlene Brand entertained friends and neighbors at a Hawaiian Luau Saturday evening, November 3. The occasion celebrated two events—the housewarming of the Brand's new Lanai (playroom) and a farewell party for Andy and Penny Pansini who will move to Greenbrae this month.

The dining room and playroom were appropriately decorated with flowers and ti leaves and other greenery. Leis of orchards and pickokes flown from Hawaii by Mr. Brand were presented to the ladies on arrival. A buffet was served in Hawaiian fashion. Those attending were Denver and Peggy Green, Vic and Mabs Guz, Maureen and Del Guymon, Andy and Penny Pansini, Frank and Fran Dethlefson, Bob and Helen Easterbrook, Trev and Ruth Jones.

WILDWOOD

A neighborhood party was held Saturday night at the home of Barbara and Don Merrett. Guests included Remo and Jean Cuniberti, George and Sammy Paizis, Betty and Bud Christman, Helen and Grant Holman, Ann Duffy, Carol and Fenton Pettit. Needless to say, everyone enjoyed the party immensely.

MIDWAY

Welcome to Mr. and Mrs. Keith Droullard and sons, Mike and Stevie, who have just moved to our fair community from Seattle, Washington.

Little Karen Mattson and Dickie Bode celebrated their third birthdays together November 6th. Joining in on the double birthday fun were Renie and Becky Locke, Howard and Sandy Nielson, Dickie and Tommy Crofton, Alex, Dennis and Bryan Mattson, Kenny and Bobby Bode and Marolyn Mattson.

GARDEN VILLAGE

Mr. George Irvine has just returned from a month's business trip back east.

LOUVAINE DRIVE

Margie Wright celebrated her fourth birthday on October 29. Movies were shown and games played in a Halloween setting. Those present were Rayme and Beth Lichtenberg, Karen Courtney, Johnny Rizzo, Goeffery Hoyt, Kathie Gantert, Cindy Kruger, Martin Warmoth, Susan Smith, Joyce, Lynn and Bobby Brown and Jimmy Wright.

87th STREET

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Dave Peterson on their new daughter named Dari.

HERE AND THERE

Twelve year old Robin Hatfield went to a beauty parlor on November 3 and returned to find a surprise birthday party awaiting her. Those surprising here were: Beth Brownlee, Nancy Galladay, Marolyn Baker, Ann Hyndman, Beverley High, Jane Niblock, Edith Detweiler and Olga Tourkoff.

Don't forget the bazaar of the women's association of the Community Presbyterian church held on November 8 and 9 from 6 to 10 p.m. For a preview, look in Shaw's window in the Broadmoor shopping district.

So long for now.

A Castle On A Hill

by
Ridgely Cummings

The Hearst castle at San Simeon has been a fascinating and melodramatic place for me ever since Aldous Huxley wrote his disguised description of it in a novel called, I think, "After Many a Summer Dies the Swan."

Now at last I have met someone who has been there.

I had seen it in white magnificence on the lonely mountain crest from planes while commuting between San Francisco and L.A. and from the Pacific ocean when, during the war, circumstances made it necessary for me to make a few voyages along the California coast. But I never saw it from the inside.

Once on an auto trip over the coast highway between Morro Bay and the Big Sur country a group of us passed through the town of San Simeon. The hamlet is near the water. The castle lies to the east, high up, and the natives spoke of it in awed tones. Supplies were trucked in from larger cities and there was little fraternization between Hearst employees and the townsfolk, though several people proudly told us they had seen the great man ride past on some mysterious mission.

Fortress

Our party drove to the harbor in San Simeon, the town, to examine the crated medieval fortress lying neatly boxed on the wharf, one of Hearst's European purchases, huge blocks of stone waiting for the master's order to be carted inland and erected again.

The word will never come I suppose, now that William Randolph Senior is no more.

I am not one of those who believed that Hearst was a great soul. But there is no doubt in my mind that he was a great newspaperman. Despite their reactionary editorial policy, his papers had the lilt and sparkle of life. They still have in many cities, including Los Angeles where despite its sober virtues the Times of Mr. Chandler is a much duller paper than the Examiner of the Hearst Empire.

But this not a critique on Hearstian journalism. This is a piece about my acquaintance who visited San Simeon. It was Sinclair Lewis, I think, who made a whole book out of "The Man Who Visited Coolidge" so I don't see why I can't write a column on the man who visited San Simeon.

Many of the world's great and near great have made the pilgrimage to this vast estate. One or two have written in transparent allegory about what they saw there but most have retained a discreet silence. I did hear one story since I've been in Hollywood about a famous comedian who spent a weekend there and then sent Mr. Hearst a bill for a thousand dollars.

Explanation

The story may be apocryphal but the way I heard it, the Lord of San Simeon demanded an explanation. The comedian replied:

"That is my professional fee."

Mr. Hearst protested that the comedian had come as a guest.

"Oh no," the actor retorted. "When I spend the weekend as a guest I bring along my wife. When I am invited alone I assume it is as an entertainer."

Mr. Hearst paid the bill, according to the story.

The man I know who visited San Simeon is also an entertainer, but not the same one. His work brings him into close contact with those who have amassed great stores of worldly goods.

Parties

He has appeared at parties hosted by Doris Duke at Santa Barbara, the Schwabacher-Frey's in San Francisco and Marion Davies in Santa Monica and Beverly Hills. But San Simeon was his crowning achievement. What an audience, and no where else for them to go. He remembers it whistfully.

Over a cup of coffee at Will Wrights on Vine street he waxed nostalgic. But now that I come to write down what he said I am at a loss, for of course I didn't take notes. If he had seen me using pencil and paper his flow of reminiscence would have dried at the source.

So all I can remember is his frequent repetition of the fact that in the castle on the hill there were 115 rooms. That and the guards at the gate, one of them a well known professional wrestler.

What I took away from the conversation was not so much a detailed picture as a hazy aura of grandeur. His description of feudal magnificence was mixed with regret for an era that was dead, for my acquaintance seemed sure that the great days of San Simeon where over and that he would never be called back to entertain there again.

Rumblings

Hearst is no more and though for the moment his newspaper and magazine empire remains intact there are rumblings of dissension among the heirs apparent.

The lawyers, like vultures at the feast, may soon eat up the liquid assets in litigation. Even if Miss Davies and the sons reconcile their differences, it is still unlikely that any one of the group will emerge wealthy enough to keep the castle going in its accustomed splendor.

Perhaps sometime soon it will be turned into a public museum and the curious will have the opportunity to tread the stately halls and drop peanut shells upon the scences of vanished splendor.

When that day comes I shall be one of the first to investigate. But out of respect for my friend whose visit to San Simon was the high spot of his career I shall refrain from peanuts and even eschew the lowly hot dog.

Sic transit gloria.

Bayshore Children Enjoy Halloween

Halloween festivities October 31 of the Bayshore School Parent-Teacher Association were started with the children in costume parading around the school playground, followed by the opening of the carnival at 1 p.m.

The carnival consisted of games, concessions, and hobgoblins haunting the school stage and turning it into a spook's haunt. Hot dogs, doughnuts, pop corn and beverages were served to complete the celebration. The committee in charge wishes to thank the faculty and other members of the PTA for their help in making the affair a success.

Also they wish to thank the following merchants: Scats Market, Midway Market, Cow Palace Market, Little Village Market, and the Purity Store for their donations.

Young Homemakers Corner

By NANCY COOK—ANS Features

Grandma was a high-powered dynamo who helped the family finances by doing most everything herself. True, she didn't have a host of outside interests—a job, radio and TV, clubs and lectures—to claim her time, but we must admit she was a wonderful homemaker. Then came a period when women spent less time in the home. The lady of the house assumed the role of a managing executive — often paying others to do things Grandma used to do herself.

Again there's a trend towards "doing it yourself"—and doing more things in the home. Yet today's homemaker still has time for outside interests.

As we see it, this change came about by modern short-cuts and products that save time and labor; and by the desire of American women to keep up their standard of living in spite of a shrinking budget.

Women Fight Inflation

What women are doing to make ends meet has a definite bearing on our national economy. By making her dollar go further, she unconsciously fights inflation. By doing it herself, she beats the high cost of labor. Let's sight a few examples:

Mrs. X buys all of her fruits, vegetables, and other foods at the peak of the season when prices are low. With the aid of her pressure cooker or home freezer, she stores them for later use. Mrs. X is a wonder at feeding her family appetizing, nutritious meals all year around, in spite of high prices. By lessening the demand out of season, she also keeps prices down for those who must buy on the current market.

Sewing Machine an Aid

Mrs. Y makes all her own clothes, and her young ones are the best dressed in the neighborhood. Her popular, teen-age daughter needs a big wardrobe, and she is teaching her how to sew, too. We doubt if Mrs. Y, or her daughter—who enjoy sewing their own fashions — give much thought to what a lethal weapon their sewing machine is in combating inflation. Yet their sewing activities slow the upward trend in prices of ready-made clothes, and help stretch the budget of their non-sewing sisters. Their efforts also lighten the load of clothing manufacturers for war work.

With her sewing machine the homemaker keeps clothing and household items in good repair. She is fortunate in being able to make over and alter wearables for her fast-growing children.

Her things last longer too, when she washes them herself—and with today's "almost human" laundry equipment, and gentler, but more effective soaps and detergents, the family washing is no problem.

Women Need "Weapons"

So it seems that women do play a part in battling inflation, and we hope that those who are adminstrating and directing our present "defense" economy will not curb women's ingenuity and fighting power by robbing them of their weapons. While we realize the importance of diverting essential metals from non-essential consumer items into military channels, let us hope that proper consideration will be given to the value of these "household essentials" on the home front.

U.C. Extension Conference Slated For Accountants

The second annual "Tax Accounting Conference" will be held in San Francisco on November 26 and 27. This was announced today by Charles C. Gabrielson, president, California Society of Certified Public Accountants.

All meetings will be held at the University of California Extension center, 540 Powell St.

According to Gabrielson, the conference program will cover the most important aspects of current tax accounting problems and related legistlation.

An identical program will be held at Los Angeles on November 28 and 29.

The northern conference is sponsored cooperatively by the C. P. A. society, University of California Extension, and University of California's School of Business Administration, Gabrielson said.

Expecting an attendance at least equal to last year's 425, Gabrielson urges accountants to send their enrollments in early. Applications for enrollment should be mailed to University of California Extension, Berkeley 4, he said.

Registration will begin at 540 Powell St. at 8 a.m. Monday, November 26. Three 30-minutes lectures and a question period will make up each morning session. Topics for the afternoon of the opening day will all have "California Taxes" as their common theme. "What's New in Taxes" will be the theme for Tuesday afternoon.

Most of the speakers will come from either the San Francisco or Los Angeles area. All will be C. P. A.'s, Gabrielson said.

Price Ceiling Board Instigated

Complaints Heard By New Service

To provide a better service to the public, the Enforcement Division of the San Francisco-Oakland District Office of Price Stabilization has established a complaint desk to receive reports of violations, it was reported by Homer F. Potter, director.

The new service will channel all complaints into a central bureau where they will be processed in a standardized fashion, the director explained.

In the past, said Thomas B. Richardson, enforcement chief, compaints have been received in various OPS branches with conseqent delay in transmittal to enforcement. Also, in some cases, the basic information essential to the initiation of an investigation has not been obtained.

The complaint desk is located in Room 609 of the Flood building and will be staffed during working hours by a special enforcement agent, Richardson said. The telephone number is YUkon 2-5800, Local 385.

Murder Is Topic Of Local Play

Jefferson High Production Set

Did you know that "A Murder Has Been Arranged?"

This crime and its solution in the form of the first mystery play to be presented by Jefferson high school in years, will take place on the stage of the high school auditorium on November 15 and 16 at 8:15 p.m.

Miss Eunice Seaton is directing the play and her student assistant is Mary Alice Coverdale. The staging is in the charge of Mr. Durant Moseley and Miss Betty Jones is making the costumes.

Tickets for the play are on sale at Lee's Pharmacy, Daly City; The Anchor Drug, Colma; and at Jefferson high school.

Besides being a play of absorbing interest, "A Murder Has Been Arranged" is blessed with that rare and precious quality known as originality. Never has there been a play quite like it—never have thrills been produced by such aparently simple means.

Playing the roles of Sir Charles and Lady Beatrice Jasper are Basil Beeson and Shirley Rasor, while Ronald Christensen will take the part of Maurice Mullins. The part of a young American, James North, will be played by Frank Garcia and Janice Sproule will take the role of Miss Groze, Sir Charles' very efficient secretary. Also in Sir Charles' service as cook is Mrs. Wragg who will be played by Shaula Crosson and as band leader for this dinner party is Mr. Cavendish who will be played by Ronald Harris. The part of Mrs. Arthur, a very domineering woman and Lady Beatrice's mother, will be taken by Sharon Girard. The dumb woman who appears to fulfill the legend of the St. James Theatre will be played by Adele Hansen.

The public is urged to attend on Thursday night since the students are being given a special rate on Friday night.

Hard starting usually indicates a weak or defective battery in your car. Unless the battery is kept fully charged, cautions the California State Automobile Association, maximum engine efficiency cannot be obtained.

FOR REMOVING PLUGS

Spark plugs always are easier to remove when cool, advises the National Automobile Club. Both the plug and its port expand when the engine block is hot.

Girl Scouts Pay Tribute To Adults For Work In Scouting

By MRS. MARIAN GRIFFIS

Last Friday night at the Jefferson Union High School Little Theatre Girl Scouts from 7 to 70 (?) paid tribute to the men and women whose tireless efforts through the years have made scouting a fundamental force for freedom. Scouting first came to this area in April, 1937, with the investiture of a lone troop under the leadership of Mrs. Aldith Fox and Mrs. Lucile Lemon and three troop committee members.

Mrs. Hilda Heagney, president of the Daly City-Colma Council, presented formal certificates of appreciation to the following early volunteers: Mr. R. L. Crane and Mesdames Leo Lemon, Alma Becker, John Kinsey and Cora Oberg, and cards of thanks to many others.

Ten year pins were awarded to Mesdames Richard Crane, Peter Becker, Leo Lemon, George Windhurst, Lyal Ingersoll and Misses Beth Ann Calvin and Alma Becker.

Mrs. Helen Gould, executive director of the Federation of North San Mateo county councils, presented 5 year pins to these diligent volunteers: Mesdames Marge Calvin, Madeline Anderson, Marie Miller, Edith Anderson, Gladys Kennedy, Dorothy Kramer, Wanda Michelson, Muriele Pabst, Ida Hanley, Stella Jensen, Clara Poket, Florence Hopman, Thelma Hamilton, Marjorie Reandeau, Helen Kitson, and S. E. Prescott.

It is through the work of these people, the 211 currently registered adults, and many others, that the fundamental attitudes and abilities of the Girl Scout movement are now available to 303 Brownies, 347 Intermediate Girl Scouts, and 26 Senior Scouts. The greatest tribute to their success in scouting is the ever growing need for more volunteer adults and paid professional workers to bring scouting to more girls.

The guests of the evening participated in the opening flag ceremonies lead by Mrs. Dayny Golladay and in the ensuing group singing lead by Mrs. Mary Larson. Then they enjoyed a program of troop participation.

Girl Scout uniforms from 1918 to the present (from the San Francisco Girl Scout relic box) were modeled by various leaders and girls.

The evening's festivities culminated in reminiscences and delicious refreshments. Everyone was grateful to the committee in charge for a memorable evening.

Against The Law

And Who Is This Guy Who Is Giving Away Money For Advertising Purposes?

The United States Secret Service has received numerous complaints from banking houses that advertising matter is being pasted to coins of the United States by various types of business establishments.

This practice makes it difficult for banks to readily and clearly identify the coins as to genuineness and denomination and further makes it extremely difficult for banks to process the coins through counting machines for wrapping and eventual distribution.

The United States Secret Service wishes to warn anyone using this medium of advertising that they are violating a Federal Law covered by Section 475, Title 18 of the United States Code, which provides that: "WHOEVER . . . writes, prints, or otherwise impresses upon or attaches to any instrument, obligation, or security, or any coin of the United States, any business, or professional card, notice, or advertisement, or any notice or advertisement whatever, shall be fined not more than $500."

Slow Down At Sundown Warns CSAA

When you are driving at night you cannot see very far ahead of your car, and you are courting suicide to plunge into the darkness ahead at an unreasonable speed.

On an open straight road, with no other cars traveling in either direction, and with your bright lights on, you can see about two hundred feet ahead. That's your "danger zone."

If your brakes are in perfect order you may be able to stop within this distance at a maximum speed of not more than forty-five miles per hour.

Now take into account all the factors that can shorten this danger zone; curves in the road; the condition of your brakes and tires; your own physical condition and your age.

Furthermore, if there are other cars on the road and you dim your lights, the danger zone is shortened even more, and the chances of accident are multiplied, warns the California State Automobile Association.

Think about these things, and reduce your speed when you are driving at night.

Eligible young men may obtain further information at the Army and Air Force Recruiting Station at 30 Van Ness Avenue, in San Francisco.

Old Vets Still Must Register For The Draft

"Before you went into service, the place to register was your draft board; now that you are out of uniform, the place to register is the Veterans Service Office, Courthouse, Redwood City."

This is the suggestion issued to both old and new veterans in San Mateo county by Floyd D. Granger, Veterans Service Officer, who added: "It's not compulsory, but it may mean a lot to you some day soon."

Whether he is a "new" veteran just released from service, or whether he is an older veteran who has moved to this community recently, Granger pointed out that having his name on file with the Veterans Service Office is a good form of "insurance," regardless of his need for specific assistance at this time. Besides, the visit costs a veteran nothing. There is no charge for any advice or assistance out of this office.

"Even if a veteran has no problem at the moment, he may wish to draw upon his veteran's benefits eventually," Granger stated. "It will be to his advantage for us to have the necessary information about him on file already."

Veterans cannot be expected to know how or where to apply for all the various types of benefits to which they are entitled by law, or even where to write for information. A veteran may want to be informed about civil service preference, vocatioal rehabilitation, medical treatment, what to do about his government insurance, or whether he qualifies for a home loan. Instead of going to five different places, he can obtain all necessary information, and even the application forms, in the course of "one stop" at the Veterans Service Office in Redwood City.

Approach all curves with caution, advises the National Automobile Club.

Dog Bites Playmate On Right Cheek

When your very own dog bites you, it is no doubt the result of a misunderstanding somewhere along the line.

And so it is up to little four year old Stephen Johnson of 349 First avenue, to find out what was disturbing his pet. Yes, the canine who bit Stephen on Monday afternoon was his own pooch.

The small boy was bitten on the right cheek and treated at the Junipero Serra hospital. The dog will be confined for the regulation number of days.

When the heavy cruiser USS Rochester visited Hilo, Hawaii, recently, Gerald R. Rehe, seaman apprentice, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Rehe of 157 South Park View, got a good look at old Mauna Loa—a frequently active volcano.

The Rochester's crew visited Kilauea Crater in Hawaii National Park located on the slopes of Mauna Loa about 30 miles from Hilo. They stood at the foot of the 700-deep fire pit and took pictures of steam vapors rising from gaping holes in the hardened lava.

The cruiser spent 198 days in continuous operation against Communist forces in Korean waters last year.

Latest Daly City man to join the Navy during the month of October is George Thomas Evans, 44 Willits street.

Chief Pete Foulger, Navy recruiter, stated the Navy is still on unlimited recruiting and young men desiring information regarding enlisting are invited to visit the Navy Recruiting Station, post office building, San Mateo; or the county court house, Redwood City. Phone DI. 4-2781 or EM. 8-0521.
